Updates from the Office of MS Attorney General Lynn Fitch

Promoting Women's Health

Before National Women's Health Week comes to a close tomorrow, I want to share my appreciation for all the health care providers, and public and private organizations that advocate for women daily and provide loving health care. Mississippi's 30+ pregnancy resource centers respond daily to their clients' physical, emotional, mental and spiritual health needs. Other private organizations, like Vitamin Angels, hone in on improving maternal health outcomes by getting prenatal vitamins to women in need of them. We can all find ways to support women around us and encourage improved health. After we learn the final Dobbs decision, our important mission remains: to empower women and promote life.

Magee News: 35 Attorneys General Urge ALI to Reject Amendments

By Sue Honea

“With these amendments, the ALI is reversing years of progress made in prosecuting sex trafficking and sexual assault, abuse, and exploitation,” said Attorney General Lynn Fitch. “They handcuff prosecutors, ignore the needs of victims, and dismiss the input of those of us who work in criminal justice and with victims of crime. The members of the ALI should reject these amendments, which do far more harm than good.”

WAPT: Mississippi to see more than $1M from TurboTax settlement

By Angela Williams

“Over 35,000 Mississippians were misled into paying for tax filing services that should have been free,” [Attorney General Lynn] Fitch said. “And the deceived consumers were primarily those who could least afford to make this unnecessary payment. I am pleased that with this settlement, not only will those consumers get back some of their money, but Intuit will put an end to its deceptive marketing practices.”
